

Lincoln Hayes performs in NY

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

In addition to pursuing a number of other acting projects, Lincoln Hayes is currently performing in The Last Days of Judas Iscariot presented by Wide Eyed Productions. The play, directed by Rebecca Hengstenberg, runs from Jan. 14-Feb. 7 at the Richmond Shepard Theatre in New York City, N.Y.

Simultaneously pious and profane, The Last Days of Judas Iscariot follows the Trial of the Millennium, according to wideeyedproductions.com. Between Heaven and Hell, two attorneys argue the fate of the Bible's most infamous sinner, Judas Iscariot. Mother Theresa, Satan, Sigmund Freud and Pontius Pilate are among the witnesses called to testify in Stephen Adly Guirgis's serio-comic look at free will, destiny, forgiveness and redemption. Religion has never been this real.

In his role as Judas Iscariot, Hayes received a favorable review by Michael Bettencourt in "offoffonline.com—what's on on off-off Broadway."

Hayes is a 2003 graduate of Holyoke High School and is the son of Steve and Ronda Hayes.
