

Event Center gets a workout

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Numerous people visited and spent time in the new Phillips County Event Center last week. Three different meetings and conferences were held at the new building Thursday, April 22. Kicking off the day was an economic development meeting followed by the Colorado Workforce Board. Progressive 15 used the venue for their two-day spring conference as well. Many of the people involved in the different meetings were from out of town. Before the workforce board meeting, chair Jessie Ruiz took the group on a tour of the facility which received positive feedback from all those in attendance. Phillips County Commissioners Susan Roll Walters, Bud Bieseimeier and Jerry Beavers are pictured with Phillips County Administrator Randy Schafer during the Progressive 15 conference Friday, April 23. □ □
