

Everything checks out at the Health Fair

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Roughly 220 people took advantage of Melissa Memorial Hospital's annual health fair Saturday, March 24 at HHS. Numerous booths and services were available to the public.

Above, Pat Notter and Peggy Davis test someone for peripheral vascular disease.

Gracie Gibson gets an oral screen.

—Enterprise photos

Everything checks out at the Health Fair

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Blood draws taken Saturday and those taken early totaled 640. People were given the chance to speak with providers during the health fair to go over results. Results may be obtained at the clinic and those that haven't been picked up will be mailed next week. ☐☐

Holyoke Enterprise March 29, 2012