

Moisture is nice; cooler weather isn't, however

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Having experienced temperatures close to the 90s this past weekend, Holyoke residents woke Tuesday morning, April 3 to cold temperatures and wet conditions. Dry conditions have left area farmers praying for moisture, and when it is received, no one complains. The complaint comes from those who caught the Spring Fever bug a little early this year and have had beautiful flowers coloring their yards. The cold temperatures Tuesday morning had yet to get ahold of these flowers located at Phillips County Courthouse. Even though it wasn't much, the little moisture that was received was welcomed by all. □ □ —Enterprise photo
