

Disappearing into the morning fog

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Visibility was rather poor Thursday, April 12 in and around Holyoke. This photo, taken from the intersection of Highway 385 and County Road 20, shows just how poor visibility was heading north into Holyoke. The fog rolled into the area throughout the morning hours, and by afternoon it was gone. Some welcomed moisture was received throughout the day and Thursday evening as well. —Enterprise photo

Holyoke Enterprise April 19, 2012