Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Jennifer Struckmeyer is in her sixth week in the North Colorado Medical Center Burn Unit in Greeley as a result of injuries in the March 18 Heartstrong Fire in Yuma County.

Earlier this month, she was making steady progress, but her husband Del reported Monday, April 23 that it's been a standstill week.

Del indicated she'll probably remain at NCMC for another couple of weeks.

Her hospital address remains the same:
