

Sullivans now owners of Sully Team Realty

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Formerly under the name of Sellstate Realty, Jeff and Olga Sullivan have branched out to form their own business, Sully Team Realty, LLC, which became official April 16.

Both Jeff and Olga are owners and brokers in the new business, and while Olga works in real estate full time, their goal is to bring in Jeff full time in the near future.

Other goals are to grow their business and diversify their listings throughout the northeastern corner of Colorado. "We're looking forward to continuing with the same service," said Olga, noting they've had a good transition into owning their own business.

Their motto is to bring buyers and sellers together, and they also offer free market analysis/broker price opinion.

The Sullivans began working with Sellstate in August 2009. Olga has had three and a half years experience in the industry, with Jeff at three years experience.

Sully Team will keep their same office location at 127 E. Denver in Holyoke and can be contacted at 854-3193.
