

Knight returns to Holyoke to open Double K Garage

Written by Kyle Arnoldy

After more than a decade away, Kolt Knight made his return to Holyoke in March with the goal of opening his very own garage.

This month, Knight will see that dream come to fruition as he anticipates raising the doors to Double K Garage for business Monday, Oct. 21.

After working as an automotive technician for the past nine years in Fort Collins, Holyoke native Kolt Knight has returned to town to open his own shop, Double K Garage.□□ domestic or foreign automobile or light truck.

After graduating from Holyoke High School in 2002, Knight went on to Northeastern Junior College where he pursued an engineering degree. After realizing he wanted to go in a different direction, Knight enrolled at WyoTech in Laramie, Wyo. Once completing the automotive program, Knight jumped the state line back to Colorado where he worked in Fort Collins for the next nine years as an automotive technician.
