

Colorado ag photo contest under way

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Whether it is spring, summer, fall or winter, Colorado agriculture offers breathtaking backdrops for photographers. The 16th annual “Colorado...it’s AgriCultural” photography contest is seeking entries as a way to celebrate the state’s agricultural heritage.

“Every year I am excited to see how people capture the spirit of Colorado agriculture in photographs,” said Commissioner of Agriculture John Salazar. “The contest gives us one way to share the diversity of Colorado agriculture with everyone.”

Entries must be submitted to the Colorado Department of Agriculture with an official entry form by Dec. 31. All photographs must be taken in the 2013 calendar year and must relate to Colorado agriculture in some way.

For the full article, call 970-854-2811 for more information about setting up an e-Subscription.

Holyoke Enterprise October 31, 2013