

Corn harvest winding down

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Holyoke's Grainland Co-op saw a lot of activity in the past week as the local corn harvest nears completion.

Grainland Co-op grain merchandiser Steve Young estimates that the corn harvest in northeast Colorado is between 85-90 percent completed and will likely wrap up within a week.

Young reports that bushels per acre are coming in as expected or even better and test weights have been solid at between 59-60 pounds per bushel.

The moisture in the corn has been a bit high, between 19-20 percent. For this time of the year, Young said he would like to see that number closer to 17 percent but the corn just hasn't dried out like expected.

To read the full article, subscribe to our e-Edition. Call 970-854-2811.

Corn harvest winding down

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Brenda Heldenbrand is busy checking moisture and test weights on corn hauled into Grainland Co-op Thursday, Oct. 31.□□

—Enterprise photo

Holyoke Enterprise November 7, 2013