

Phillips County 4-H'ers attend weekend leadership conference

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Seventeen Phillips County 4-H members in grades 6-9 attended the Colorado Leadership Conference Friday-Sunday, Nov. 8-10 in Glenwood Springs.

The conference theme of "Reaching New Heights" allowed participants to experience certain aspects of flight and how this relates to leadership. Conference attendees had the opportunity to build their own planes, fly remote control helicopters and hovercrafts and discuss weather and the factors affecting flight.

To read the full article, call us about subscribing to our e-Edition. 970-854-2811

Phillips County 4-H members who attended the Colorado Leadership Conference in Glenwood Springs are pictured from left, front row, Brandon Durbin, Ciera Schelling and Taylor Hendrix; second row, Marissa Schelling, Dawson Knode, Riley Thompson, Trent Huffman and Lauren Bergner; third row, Emily Jelden, Emily Atkins and Kassidy Porter; and back row, Katie Gibson, Tristen Roll, Drew Stewart, Janessa Lutze, Kenton Bogan and Morganne Kumm.

Phillips County 4-H'ers attend weekend leadership conference

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Holyoke Enterprise November 21, 2013