

Phillips Co. Raceway gears up for stellar 2014 season

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

Phillips County Raceway and Blood Sweat & Tears Promotions have a stellar racing season on slate for 2014, running April through September. It will alternate every other Saturday with I-76 Speedway in Fort Morgan, allowing for the largest car counts possible, as well as some midweek specials.

The first midweek special will be Thursday, July 3 with the Salute to the King farewell tour. It will feature the “King of the Outlaws,” Steve Kinser, for the night’s festivities.

A personal meet and greet dinner with the “King” will be offered before the race for the first 100 paid participants. That will be followed by a BST Tour Showdown and a Firecracker Blowout on Friday, July 4.

Kinser has become a legend in the world of sprint car racing, and he’s looking ahead for one final chance at making more history.

A 20-time champion of the World of Outlaws sprint car series, Kinser is making this his final full season on the circuit.

Going into this year, Kinser has collected 576 A-Feature victories in his 35-year World of Outlaws career.

Another midweek event will kick off the Phillips County Fair week Monday, July 21. The “Monday Night Madness Meltdown” will see the BST Tour returning with NASCAR star Kenny Schrader.
