

Dinosaur Stomp moves to Event Center

Written by Holyoke Enterprise

With a big, loud “Dinosaur Stomp,” Dragon’s Wagon Preschool took its year-end spaghetti supper and program to the Phillips County Event Center Thursday, May 16.

The change in venue proved successful for both the fundraising meal and program, which included entertainment by the children, as well as a live auction and silent auction.

Two groups of preschool students entertained with songs and rhymes, decked out in colorful headpieces and handheld props.

Children who will not be entering kindergarten next fall opened the dinosaur theme program Thursday.

Starting off the program was “Dinosaur Stomp,” featuring Alexxander Mateo Zazo, Mylee Dirks, Andres Bencomo, Erica Flores and Chance Piper.

Roxy Santos Dominguez, Ricardo Juarez Goytia, Abby Hoch, Briseyda Gonzalez Lopez, Rorey Schneller and Ilario Turcio Espinal made their way to the center of the stage for “If I was a Dinosaur.”

“Baby Dinosaur” brought Reese Steggs, Kaden Herman, Sadee Mosenteen and Adrian Chafino to the front.

“Dinosaur Roar” was a fun one presented by Riley Powell, Jacob Fu, Logan Martin, Sylvester Jones, Brody Smith, Marix Perez, Claire Hubbard and Hadley Kerst.

“Great Big Dinosaur” included Lindsey Hermosillo Bustillos, Auron Lueth, Sophia Rahe and Daniela Castillo Marquez.

Peyton Adams, Amairany Murillo, Tyler Anderson, Elia Wear and Sujei Bustillos Diaz closed out the first group’s portion of the “Dinosaur Stomp” with “The Dinosaur Song.”

Students who will enter kindergarten in August performed the second half of Thursday’s program. Following their performance, each was presented a graduation certificate by preschool staff.

Marcia Walter serves as director for Dragon’s Wagon, with Joan Owens as assistant director. Amy Marner and Emma Mackay are aides, while Mary Berges serves as a BOCES aide and Maria Rojo as ELL aide.
